Principles of Teaching

formerly known as “Teacher Assisting”

We all heard about heroes when we were little. Superman and Batman made impacts in their worlds, just as you can be a hero and make an impact in the world of a child. If you want to make a difference, a school is a great place to start. The difference you make in children's lives can have a lasting impact, while the rewards that come with seeing their smiling faces make any day better. The Principles of Teaching Program allows you the opportunity to professionally make differences every day. The facial expression that a child gets when he or she finally understands a topic is unforgettable. You can be the reason behind that expression! The hands-on experience you gain from the internship will allow you to see the change you are making in children's lives. Everyone remembers his or her favorite teacher. Why not be part of those important memories? You don't need a cape to make a difference - you need McFatter's Principles of Teaching program!
